

SOUTH EAST REGIONAL MEETING

The next Royal Entomological Society South-East Regional Meeting will be held at the University of Greenwich (Greenwich Campus) on January 9th 2019.

The theme for this meeting is:

Insects: tools for life and death

We have an invited keynote speaker

Dr Damien Charabidze (Lille University)

The meeting is specifically interested in welcoming presentations about forensic entomology and related subjects. However, several “open” slots on general topics will be available.

If you wish to offer an oral presentation or a poster, or attend without presenting, please visit <https://www.royensoc.co.uk/event/south-east-regional-meeting> and fill in a registration form.

The deadline for registration is 5th December 2018 but it would help with the organisation if you could register as soon as possible. Registration is free but refreshments are £15.00 per head for RES Members and £20.00 for non-members. This covers a buffet lunch and tea/coffee in the morning and afternoon.

For any queries please contact Dr Sarah Arnold s.e.j.arnold@greenwich.ac.uk
